AUSTRO-GERMAN TROOPS SHOWN

In a Thrilling War Film on the Screen Today at the Star Theater.

"The Road to Fame," a highly interesting photodrama, is the feature offering today at the Star theater. A thrilling war film showing Austro-German troops in Poland is also on the program.

"The Land of the Lost," a stirring drama of romance and pathos, enacted by a cast of talented screen artists, will be the chief offering Monday.

The popular movie star, King Bag-got, appears in the Universal Broadway feature, "The Suburban," at the Orpheum theater today. The settings are laid in the hills and are beautiful in the extreme. King Baggot will be well received as he never fails to captivate his audiences. The story is written by C. T. Day, author of "In Old Kentucky" and other popular novels.

William Fox's picturization of D'Emery's grand old drama, "The Two Orphans," now being presented at the Robinson Grand, may be cited as some of the most magnificent and elaborate screen productions thus far seen here. Theda Bara, Jean Sothern —a dainty, winsome little actress—and William Shay all give powerful renderings of the characters assigned to them.

Monday, Jessie Lasky will present the superb dramatic star, Charlotte Walker, in a picturization of Charles Keaton's drama, "Kindling."

Virginia Pearson, Ned Finley and George Cooper have commenced work on James Oliver Curwood's story of the Canadian Northwest, "The Hunted Woman," which is being produced for the Vitagraph company by S. Rankin Drew.

"What Happened on the Barbuda," a four-part Edison drama, is the big thing in Clarksburg today in the way of moving pictures. It is being shown at the Bijou theater. It is a thrilling tale of the sea. Two comedies, "Oh for a Boat Ride" and "The Silent Accuser," are included in the program.
Monday's program will be one of Captain Wilson.

Captain Wilson of Yale has come to the conclusion that a big shake-up on the team is necessary if Yale is to beat Harvard this year. A lot of hard work with more drill in the fundamentals of the game and plenty of signal drill to improve the work in the backfield is planned.

WHERE PRESIDENT BUYS HIS JEWELRY

Mrs. Galt's jewelry store in Washington.

While President Wilson is said to be a man who cares little for personal adornment in the way of jewelry, it is safe to say that in case he should want a new diamond he could get it real cheap at this store in the national capital. The store is owned by his fiancée, Mrs. Norman Galt.

OVERALL RACE IS A FEATURE

Roars of Laughter When Maids Don Masculine Garment under Pressure.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—In keeping with the inventive genius attached to the name of Edison it remained for the members of the Edison Club to introduce some new and novel features at their annual field day held on the grounds of the Public Schools Athletic League in Flatbush.

One of the features was a satchel race for women, in which the competitors were obliged to race over a fifty yard course and return carrying regulation traveling satchels.
At the first half the girls were required to unlock the satchels, extract therefrom a pair of overalls, put them on over their skirts in regular man fashion, making sure to secure air buttons, then fasten the gallow straps over the shoulders in their proper way and return to the starting point still carrying the satchel. This caused roars of laughter.

One young woman in her haste attempted to get her whole body into one leg of the ancient emblem of labor, but the garment rebelled and the young woman sat down with a thud.
Her efforts to regain her feet, encased as she was in the overalls, were amusing.

Mrs. E. S. Neilson proved more adept in handling the masculine attire and romped home a winner, closely followed by Miss Siemerling.
Another race new to athletic competition was the lamp race, in which electric bulbs are placed at intervals over a fifty yard course. The contestants are obliged to carry each bulb back to the starting point, where the bulbs must be secured in a live board of electric plugs. C. R. Knapp was the winner.

HOG CHANGES COLOR.

GREENSBURG, Ind., Oct. 16 —A half-grown red Jersey hog belonging to Frank Wayne, on North Anderson street in this city, has changed its color through some freak of nature, which so far has been unaccounted for by the dozens of persons who have seen it. The shout has become entirely black. The change of color was first noted a week or so ago, the hair becoming a dingy brown and gradually turning darker until it is now jet. The animal appears to be in perfect health.

ALLEY RECORD IS BROKEN BY JOHNSON

When He Rolls 201 in the Fifth Game of Duck Pin Match.

In the first ten games of a twenty-game duck pin match between Efaw and Mills, of Fairmont, and Ingram and Johnson, of this city, rolled on the I. M. P. alleys Friday night, the local bowlers got away with a lead of 126 pins. Ingram and Johnson totaled 2,562 in the ten games and Efaw and Mills 2,436.

Lee Johnson was the bright and shining star of the contest, toppling over 201 of the little pins in the fifth game of the contest and averaging 140 for the ten games. Johnson's 201 score is the largest score ever made on the alleys. Ingram was off last night, rolling about ten pins a game below his average. If Ingram had rolled in form the local bowlers would have had a lead that the Fairmonters would have a hard time overcoming, but as it is with the breaks in their favor at Fairmont next week they may win the contest.

Mills of the Fairmont team was second high in score and average. He rolled 146 in the fourth game and averaged 125.

MAN INSURES HIS BOARD AND ROOM FOR TWENTY YEARS

Hotel Keeper Accepts $5,000 Endowment Policy Prospect as His Remuneration.

MANHATTAN, Kan., Oct. 16.—R. E.
Thompson, a local druggist, and H. W.
Allman, owner and proprietor of Hotel Gillette, this city, had been discussing life insurance with a local underwrit-er for about a week and while both agreed that life insurance was the "safest thing in the world" they were reluctant about signing an application.

"I'd much rather insure against the high cost of living," declared Thompson.

"Very well," replied the life under-writer, turning to the hotel proprietor.
"How much money do you want, Mr.
Allman, to board and lodge our friend Thompson for a period of twenty years?"

"About $5,000," said the proprietor after doing some figuring.
After the three men had figured out the proposition it was agreed that All-man should furnish board and room to Thompson for the coming twenty years in consideration that he is named beneficiary in a $5,000 twenty-year endowment policy to be taken out by Thompson.

Allman stated that he estimated the cost of keeping Thompson for twenty years at $5,000 which will give him a profit of $2,000 at the end of the term.
Of course, if Thompson dies before the maturity of the policy it will contribute a greater profit for the hotel proprietor. The premiums are to be paid by Thompson and if he should lapse the policy the contract becomes void.

The peculiarity of this contract is that it insures the patron against any increase in the cost of living. It gives the hotel proprietor a permanent customer for twenty years. The contract has a disability clause which would make provision for the insured for a long period of time without the necessity of meeting his annual premiums.
Thompson gets his board and lodging at a greatly reduced cost, while the proprietor becomes thrifty by saving the amount of the premium each year.

This novel case, for which credit belongs to the life insurance under-writer, simply illustrates the fact that the line of human endeavor to which a life insurance policy can not be made applicable is yet to be discovered.
